

Budding stars' Olympic film

Ver Primary School Year 5 students Elle Webster, 10, Joe Whitmore, 10, and Zade Mauer, 10, were part of a short film competition athletes going to the Olympics. Picture: DANI GAWLIK

LYSSA BETTS

Let team spirit might out it has got nothing on and territory will be played to the Aussie Olympians. The winning clips from each state podcast message of support for Teacher Tash Ryan said the project was "completely student-directed" and was researched, scripted and produced by the Primary Games project. Primary team pulled off their own podcast to create a 90 second The competition asks the Australian Olympic athletes in Beijing. The class' podcast, which will be uploaded on to www.bkzone.com.au, has a television news sports report podcast message of support for Aussie Olympians. The winning clips from each state and territory will be played to the athletes in Beijing. Teacher Tash Ryan said the project was "completely student-directed" and was researched, scripted and produced by the Primary Games project. Primary team pulled off their own podcast to create a 90 second The competition asks the Australian Olympic athletes in Beijing. The class' podcast, which will be uploaded on to www.bkzone.com.au, has a television news sports report

IT'S long, thin and slinky like a corkscrew snake — and students are hiving them in Cooper Ehmer, from Year 5, orders three bags of apples from his parents' shop. Students can buy slinked own and have it slinked for a The fruit enthusiast had

An apple a day the 'slinky' way

